

ABSTRACT

Apparatus, and an associated method, by which to predistort a send signal prior to its application to a power amplifier. Predistortion compensates for distortion introduced upon the signal during its amplification by the power 5 amplifier. Compensation is effectuated by altering a phase component of symbols of which the signal is formed without affecting the magnitude components thereof.

10

2611067_2